

Field / Lab Assistants Wanted

Sustainable Vegetable Production and Weed Ecology

Responsibilities: Assist with field studies in support of research and extension aimed at improving the sustainability of vegetable production in Michigan. Help with planting, plot maintenance, harvesting, and data collection on Michigan vegetable farms and horticultural research stations, as well as lab and greenhouse work on campus.

2010 Research projects include: Integration of reduced-tillage and cover crops for energy conservation, soil health and profit in sweet corn, snap bean, carrot, and asparagus production and; effects of management practices and climate modification on weed population dynamics.

Dates: Fall Semester 2010- TBD
Hours: Flexible (8-15 hrs/week)
between 8am-5pm M-F
Salary: $9-10/hr (based on experience)

To apply: Email your resume and a brief cover letter (subject line: Research Aide) to:

Corey Noyes
Research Assistant
Department of Horticulture
Michigan State University
noyes@msu.edu

