What needs to be done is the following:

Front planting area (approx. 3x7) needs to be weeded; defined by some sort of border; mulched and.. there are mostly hosta plants which should be showing anytime now)

Rear planting area (approx. 2 x 5) needs all of the above plus some suggestions as to replanting (the water table is quite high so some plants will not survive) Low maintenance would be the key...grasses are invading the planting area and need to be eliminated. We also have a healthy rabbit and deer population and they seem to like what we offer....

Under rear deck mulching only (some weeding)

we have used corn gluten for weed control but our little goose creatures love it and they march up and feast in a rather bold manner. We have a cat and would like any bad chemical stuff to be at a minimum... We shall furnish all the materials, etc. unless you have some other options and suggestions are encouraged!
