My name is Carrie Burns, and I am both a recent graduate from MSU and an Americorps member at South Lansing Community Development Association. I am working on a lot of garden related projects including community gardens, education workshops for kids and adults, and researching greenhouse and hoop houses. We are looking for students to help out with a lot of these projects as either volunteers or interns. We have opportunities ranging from big work days preparing new garden locations to designing a curriculum to teach kids and adults about growing their own food. If you know of any interested student groups, or can post volunteer and internship opportunities in your department, please let me know! Also, feel free to email me for more information and I can give you more details about our organization and projects.

Thank you,

Carrie Burns
