Internship Details

North Wind Gardens is a newly established farm in the early phase of development. The intern will be given significant responsibility with development of a marketing plan as well as day to day chores such as weeding, pest management, etc. A self starting individual with independent working skills is a must, as you will be working on your own for much of the time. Evening and weekends will be available for training and progress reviews. This is a great opportunity to be creative in farm planning in which your input is valued.
