Marcus,

I have a confidential company looking to fill five (5) Section grower positions within their South Carolina location, focusing on perennials, grasses and a limited amount of woody ornamentals.

Established in 1940, it is one of the largest horticulture crop producers within the country and has a well established reputation for being a company where advancement potential is unlimited. Operating from several different locations throughout the East Coast of the U.S., the company prides itself on being on the cutting edge of plant introduction and production. Although the company operates over 4200 acres and employs over 2800 people, the advancement potential for the right candidate is enormous.

JOB SUMMARY:
Responsible to the grower/Head grower for a specific section of the finishing crop nursery
Performs tasks as assigned which may include (but not limited to) watering, fertilizing, spacing, weeding, picking and assembly
Oversees quality of crops being grown under his/her direction (with oversight from supervisor)

QUALIFICATIONS:
1 to 3 year of experience in horticultural field
Demonstrates an adequate knowledge of computer applications
Ability to work long hours sometimes performing repetitive tasks
Unafraid to work in all types of weather conditions
Residing in—or able to relocate to—South Carolina
